BRING PERSONAL URBAN FARMING HOME WITH FARM TUB (TM)
SEE US AT THE COLORADO GARDEN & HOME SHOW BOOTH #581

BOULDER, CO, February 14, 2013... Look for the debut of the Farm Tub™ (www.farmtub.com), Colorado's newest solution to growing farm-fresh food in your own home and garden, at the Colorado Garden & Home Show, February 9-17th at the Colorado Convention Center. Farm Tubs are designer planters and growing systems that are custom-built to meet growing needs as well as personal style. They are ideal for personal urban farming - allowing you to bring the goodness of the farm to your home, greenhouse and garden.

Brightly painted or decorated in select woods, the attractive, artisan Farm Tubs are perfect for growing vegetables, herbs and flowers - indoors or outside - year-round. Farm Tubs are offered with a unique, self-watering growing system, or alone as planters.

Farm Tubs are designed with a built-in growing system that brings together the best of soil and hydroponic systems, that is easy to manage and self-irrigates once established. When placed in a location that maximizes the sun, the Farm Tub allows you to efficiently grow food in a safe, controlled environment, year-round.

With a galvanized steel interior and the signature, decorative wood wrap, Farm Tubs integrate the benefits of both metal and wood planters. They are built from durable, lasting materials that are where possible reclaimed, reused and recycled. In addition, they can be fitted with grow lights where needed. Farm Tubs are priced based on features, materials and size selected, and start at $250. Farm Tubs are also available for commercial use.

Local entrepreneurs, gardeners and foodies Susan and Bob Walsh are excited to offer this new product to those who wish to try their hand at urban farming at home. "Gardening and food growing need not look utilitarian," shared designer/owner, Bob Walsh. "If a growing system fits your home and style, it's more likely you will embrace it, use it and enjoy the food, herbs and flowers you grow in it."

About Farm Tub

Farm Tub, based in Boulder, CO, was founded on the premise that growing should be attractive, easy and fun and that people should be able to customize their planters and growing systems to meet their home and garden style and needs.
